Detail description about activities and sightseeing spots in and around to the places of Traveling.

DELHI

DELHI, the capital of India is famous for numerous monuments. Rashtrapati Bhawan - Residence of the President of India. Red Fort -This structure with red sandstone walls rising up to a height of 18 metres on the river side and upto 33 metres on the city side, was built by the Mughal Emperor Shah Jahan. Lakshmi Narayan Temple is dedicated to Lakshmi, the goddess of prosperity and is commonly known as Birla Mandir. India Gate bears the name of 85,000 Indian Army soldiers, who died in the First World War Parliament House the Indian Parliament building, is a circular colonnaded structure, 171 metres in diameter. The Qutab Minar is the first monument built by a Muslim ruler in India. Raj Ghat is the final resting place of Mahatma Gandhi, the Father of the Nation. The Lotus Temple is a Baha'i House of Worship, shaped like a lotus. A few other interesting sites are Shantivan, Indira and Rajiv Gandhi Memorial, Indira Gandhi House.

JAIPUR

JAIPUR, popularly known as the Pink City, was built on the principles of Shilpa Shastra, the science of Indian architecture. City Palace is an imposing blend of traditional Rajasthan and Mughal architecture. The former Maharaja still lives in the palace. Jantar Mantar is a tribute to Jai Singh's passion for astronomy which was more notable than his powers as a warrior. The Jaipur observatory is the largest and the best preserved of the five that he built. Jantar Mantar had specific purposes, such as measuring the positions of stars, altitudes and azimuths, or calculating eclipses. Amber Palace is a superb example of Rajput architecture, stunningly situated on a hillside and overlooking a lake which reflects its terraces and ramparts. Central Museum is housed in the architecturally impressive Albert Hall in the Ram Niwas Gardens. Birla Lakshmi Narayan Temple, with its splendid marble carving, was built by the Birla family.

AGRA

AGRA Wonder of the World, the Taj Mahal and Agra Fort. The chosen city of the Mughal emperors, during the early years of the Moghul period. It was here that the founder of the dynasty, Babur, laid out the first formal Persian Garden on the banks of the river Yamuna. Taj Mahal - If there's a building which represents a country, like the Eiffel Tower for France, the Sydney Opera House for Australia, then it has to be the Taj Mahal for India. This the most famous Moghul monument was constructed by Emperor Shah Jahan in memory of his wife Mumtaz Mahal, the 'Lady of the Taj'. It has been described as the most extravagant monument ever built for love, by the emperor, who was heartbroken when Mumtaz, to whom he had been married for 17 years, died in 1629, during childbirth, after producing 14 children. The Taj Mahal stands serene and perfect in its garden of cypresses and reflecting pools on the banks of the river Yamuna. Its pure white marble shimmers like silver in the moonlight glows softly in pink at dawn and at the close of day, reflects the fiery tints of the setting sun. The Taj in all its timeless beauty continues to inspire poets, painters, writers and photographers. Lovers still meet here in the moonlight in the shadow of the world's most famous monument of love. During the reign of the Moghuls, in the 16th and 17th centuries, Agra was the capital of India, and its superb monuments, dates from that era. Agra Fort has a magnificent fort and building. Construction of the massive Agra Fort was begun by Emperor Akbar and additions were made till the time of his grandson, Shah Jahan. During Akbar's time, the fort was principally a military structure and by Shah Jahan's time it had become partially a palace. There are many fascinating buildings inside the massive walls. Fatehpūr Sikrī - the Mughal Emperor Akbar built Fatehpūr Sikrī and shifted his capital there. An inscription on the central face of the Buland Darwāza demonstrates Akbar's religious broad mindedness. It has a message from Jesus advising his followers not to consider this world as their permanent home.

SHIMLA

SHIMLA - Before independence, Shimla was an important British hill station and in summer, became the 'summer capital' of India. The Mall is lined with stately English style houses bearing strangely displaced English names. Lajpat Tai Chowk is better known as 'Kiplings's scandal corner'. Rashtrapati Niwas was formerly the residence of the British Viceroy. State Museum has a modest collection of stone statues from different places in Himachal Pradesh. Jakhu Temple dedicated to the Monkey God, offers a fine view over the surrounding valleys. Wildflower Hall is the former residence of Indian Commander-in Chief, Lord Kitchener. Kufri is the best known ski resort in Himachal Pradesh. The Christ Church is the second oldest church in Northern India.
